The Family and Descendants of James Elbert Allen
By Clarence Crocker

From the early days of its founding and continuing for about a hundred years, the surname “Allen” was a prominent family name in the village of Bivingsville-Glendale. James Elbert Allen, born December 28, 1872, son of John Allen, had married Miss. Lula Murray about 1894 and were living in Glendale with his brother in-law James E. Thompson. They became the parents of seven or more children. The family was faithful members of the Glendale Methodist Church. Mr. Allen was a foreman in Glendale Mills for a number of years. He and his family were highly respected by all who knew them. They lived in the mill house located on Broadway Street for as long as this writer can remember.

Although census papers oft time gives wrong dates and misspell names, I have tried to copy the census papers as recorded. Where errors occur, I apologize. Asterisks indicate further information follows.
